Cranberry Issue Spots Food Laws

Headlines Bring To Light U.S. Power In Guarding Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The events that have raised the cranberry from the bog to the nation's headlines spotlight the power of the government in guarding the nation's food supply.

For half a century this power has existed, but "the cranberry episode," as Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming calls it, marks one of its most sweeping applications.

Formal court actions, filed this week in San Francisco, asked seizure of two small shipments — a total of 14 tons — of allegedly contaminated West Coast cranberries. But the incident is affecting, at least temporarily, an entire crop.

There were these developments:

1. Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., a major grower cooperative, says it is moving quickly to assay crops grown in Massachusetts, Wisconsin and New Jersey, about which no question was raised, as well as those in the West Coast. It hopes to clear uncontaminated cranberries of suspicion in plenty of time for Thanksgiving Day dinners. Expanded forces from the Food and Drug Administration also were checking the berries.

2. The Army and Navy suspended use of cranberries grown in Washington and Oregon, but will permit use of those it can prove grew elsewhere.

3. The New Jersey Farm Bureau said it will seek government payments to farmers for sales they have lost as a result of the controversy.

4. The National Grange, meeting in Long Beach, Calif., demanded that federal officials appear and explain why the crackdown was ordered.

The episode had its origins in 1957 when some cranberry growers adopted a new weapon in their unending war against weeds.

It was Aminotriazole (pronounced a-meen-o-try'-a-zole), a synthetic chemical killer that was still undergoing some tests by its manufacturer and had not yet been registered with the Department of Agriculture.

After the cranberries were harvested, inspectors for the Food and Drug Administration found one-third of the berries grown in Oregon and Washington showed traces of the pesticide. So did a small amount from Massachusetts.

Meanwhile, the manufacturer, American Cyanamid Co., conducted tests to see if Aminotriazole would have any dangerous effects if absorbed by humans. The long, painstaking studies were finally completed last May.

Rats, fed steady quantities of the chemical, developed cancer of the thyroid. The concentrations fed to the rats were much stronger than those found on the tested berries.

Death Ruled As Accident After Study

J. Walter Shay, 74, Loses Life As Gun Of Friend Fires

An elderly Chester area man was killed at his rural home Wednesday afternoon at 1:15 when struck by the charge from an accidentally - discharged shotgun held by a Chester hunter.

J. Walter Shay, 74, of Locust Hill Rd., caretaker at the Locust Hill Cemetery, was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hosptal.

Newell Man Wounded In 2nd Hunting Mishap

Fred Osburn, 40, of 60 2nd St., Newell, suffered a minor wound of the left cheek Wednesday when struck by a shotgun pellet while hunting with a companion near Chester. William Cornell of Chester shot at a rabbit while at a distance from Osburn and a pellet struck him. He was treated at City Hospital and released.

The blast from the 12-gauge pumpgun held by his hunting companion, William F. Wright, 21, of 210 Virginia Ave., struck Mr. Shay in the right shoulder and chest.

A coroner's jury ruled the death accidental at an inquest held last night in Chester.

The blast also tore off Wright's left index finger. He is in "fair" condition today at the hospital.

The Hancock County sheriff's office said Wright, Mr. Shay and a third man, Anthony Bernardi of Virginia Ave., Chester, had been hunting rabbits near Mr. Shay's home at the cemetery.

Shortly after leaving the home, the trio shot two rabbits and decided to return and put them in a car.

They were standing in front of the house when Wright started to wipe some mud off the end of the barrel of his gun. He still had his finger on the trigger and it discharged. Mr. Shay was standing about 8 to 10 feet away.

Bernardi said he was stooped over at the time. He said he heard the blast and saw Mr. Shay fall to the ground but didn't witness the gun's firing.

Wright and Bernardi both are employed at the Chester Post Office. Wright is a mail carrier and Bernardi is a clerk. Both are friends of Mr. Shay. Wednesday was the opening day of rabbit season in West Virginia.

Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland, deputy Hancock County coroner, conducted the inquest at the Arner Chester Chapel.

Jurors were Edwin L. Mercer, Melvin W. Swift, Otto Bregant, Ronald Watkins, Sam Shenton and Lawrence F. Haught, all of Newell.

Mr. Shay was born at Pughtown and had spent his life in the area. He had worked as a coal miner and farm hand before becoming cemetery caretaker.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Myra Allison of Canal Fulton and Mrs. Eunice Wilkinson of Cleveland.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Arner Chester Chapel by the Rev. O. L. Benedum, retired Nazarene pastor. Burial will be in the Methodist Cemetery at Pughtown.

Friends may call tonight and Friday morning at the funeral home.

Rockefeller Opens Speedy Tour In West

Says Nation Has Higher Goal Than Frustrating Reds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today that the United States has a higher goal than frustrating the ambitions of the Soviet Union.

That goal, he said, "is to make sure that the emerging international order will serve, indeed will save, the aspirations of all mankind for a life of freedon, dignity and justice."

Rockefeller — widely mentioned as a probable candidate for the Republican presidential nomination but still not ready to confirm or deny it—arrives here today to open a fast-paced, four-day speaking tour of the west.

In a text prepared for delivery to the Los Angeles World Affairs Council, he said:

"The tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union should not and must not obscure our awareness of the great and affirmative challenge before us, and the resisting of Soviet aggression is only a part, a necessary but a negative part, of our great task as a nation.

"We are not simply striving as a nation to heal the wounds opened by the so-called cold war. We are striving to make man himself — the commonwealth of nations—healthy and strong. . . .

"The test, therefore, of every action and every decision, must be more constructive, more profound and more serious than merely its usefulness as a momentary device to deter the aggression or check the claims of Soviet communism. Let me emphasize this.

"Our supreme purpose is not to defeat the intentions or the ambitions of others. Our supreme purpose is to struggle to achieve a world that respects our common heritage of belief in dignity and freedom of all peoples."

6 Openhearths Resume Operations At Crucible

The Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. reported today operations are "moving along very well" in a return to normalcy following the strike recent shutdown.

A company spokesman said six openhearth furnaces now are operating and another is expected to be put into use Friday.

Four electric furnaces are operating and the No. 1 blast furnace is expected to be in full production by Sunday, barring any unforeseen delays.

De Gaulle, Wife Plan To Visit British Queen

PARIS (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle and his wife will pay a state visit to Queen Elizabeth II in London April 5-8.

The visit will repay the state visit the Queen made to President Rene Coty in April 1957.

Young Couple And Daughter Perish In Fire

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Fire ranging through their tenant farm house early today killed a young couple and their infant daughter.

The blaze apparently followed explosion of an oil stove in the one-story brick house.

The victims were Lionel Kelly, 22; his wife, Marjorie, 17, and the child, Lynell Kay, 6 months.

The fire struck at the house the Kellys rented on the Arnold Dirckson farm along Ohio 725, about 10 miles southwest of here, between Bellbrook and Spring Valley. Firemen from both those Greene County communities went into action but it took well over an hour to control the flames.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly were found in their bedroom, Sheriff Russell Bradley said, but they evidently had tried to escape only to find themselves trapped, he reported. The infant's body still had not been found in the ruins some hours after the tragedy.

Dirckson, who operates a cattle farm, told the sheriff he awoke to see the tenant house, at the rear of his own house, afire, and called firefighters. Dirckson said he heard no explosion, but the sheriff said the condition of the razed building strongly indicated there had been one.

The three victims were the only occupants. The Kelleys had no other children. Kelly was employed at a poultry house in Dayton, about 15 miles to the northwest.

Ike Takes Off For Georgia To Rest, Work

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower flies to Augusta, Ga., today for an indefinite period of rest, work and golf.

He arranged to take off from National Airport's MATS terminal for his 24th visit to the Augusta National Golf Club since his 1952 election.

Mrs. Eisenhower will follow later by train. She delayed her departure to keep a luncheon engagement at the Capitol Hill Club.

White House officials said that Eisenhower wanted to get in some rest before he undertakes a strenuous 11-nation goodwill tour beginning Dec. 4.

While in Augusta, however, work in preparation for the January session of Congress will continue. Several government officials, including Budget Director Maurice H. Stans, will be going down for conferences on the 1961 budget and possible new legislation.

The President has already had a meeting this week with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on a new farm program to be submitted to Congress.

Eisenhower's last trip to Augusta was Oct. 21-25. During that visit he got in a few games of golf, but most of the time it was cold and rainy or—in Eisenhower language—bridge weather.

3 Murders, Suicide Ruled In California

Man Slays Wife, 2 Daughters With Sledge Hammer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A little girl thought her neighbors' pets looked hungry. She and her father investigated and found a family of four dead. The coroner calls it a triple murder and suicide.

Dead in their beds, wearing night clothes were Bette Lavine Gardner, 38, and her daughters, Randy Lee, 12, and Diane, 8.

Each had been hit on the head with a two-pound sledge hammer. At the foot of Mrs. Gardner's bed was her husband, Charles Richard Gardner, 38, dressed in khakis and with a bullet wound in his right temple.

On the floor nearby was a .45 caliber service revolver. In a waste basket between the Gardners' twin beds was a bloody sledge hammer.

"I'd call it a triple murder and suicide," Coroner Christopher Hill Jr., said Wednesday after the bodies were found. "But it's a baffler. No notes. No explanation."

Papers in Gardner's home disclosed he had recently applied for a job as an art teacher in Wellington, New Zealand.

A prospectus he wrote describing himself gave no indication of desperation. But a letter from Gardner's brother, found in the house, expressed sympathy for severe headaches he had been having.

His only debts, Gardner wrote, were the payments on his $25,000 frame home near the Monterey Peninsula Country Club in Pebble Beach's beautiful Del Monte Forest.

Gardner, son of a former Orange County treasurer, described himself in the prospectus as an honor graduate of Whittier College,, a World War II bomber pilot, a founder of the Junior Toastmasters of America and a one-time writer for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hill said he found an unpublished manuscript of Gardner's in the house. Titled "Fighting Quaker," it was a 1952 biography of the vice president, who is also a graduate of Whittier College. Pasted to the manuscript was a letter of appreciation from Nixon.

3 Gunmen Obtain $22 In Stickup On Route 18

Three gunmen obtained $22 Wednesday night at 9:15 in a holdup at Evart's Snack Shop on Route 18 three miles north of Florence, Pennsylvania State Police at Carnegie reported.

The stickup trio may have been comprised of boys, as one was only about 4 feet 5 inches, the officers said. A tri-state alarm was broadcast.

The three escaped in a 1956 dark green Buick sedan. All three covered their faces with handkerchiefs during the holdup.

Cranberries In Ohio Get Tentative Approval

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The cranberries in Ohio were given guarded and tentative approval here today by Agriculture Director Robert H. Terhune.

He said cranberries sold in Ohio usually come from Wisconsin, Michigan and New England, not from the northwest United States, where the controversial cranberry pesticide was reported used by growers.

15-Inch Snow Buries Capital Of Montana

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Mounting drifts of snow buried much of Montana and paralyzed transportation today as an immense Canadian blizzard rushed hungrily down across the Plains states.

Fifteen inches of snow — a record — buried this capital city of 18,000 persons. Temperatures plunged to the zero mark.

Airline service was halted at Butte, Helena and Great Falls. Roads were blocked. Train travel was slowed.

One death was reported. Walter Hayes, 33, of Billings, was killed and two persons were injured in the collision of a car and truck near Laurel, Mont.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for parts of Nebraska and South Dakota and extreme northwest Iowa. Falls of four inches or more were indicated. Snow flurries flecked the Upper Great Lakes region and widely scattered showers were reported in Florida, Texas, Washington and in the Yuma, Ariz., area. Skies were generally clear to partly cloudy in other sections of the country.

GM Assembly Plants Halt With No Steel

Climax Of Series Of Stops Brought By National Strike

DETROIT (AP) — All auto assembly lines in the vast General Motors empire stood silent today, stilled by lack of enough steel to turn out even one more complete passenger car.

Production of autos ground to a halt Wednesday night at the world's largest manufacturing firm. Shutdown of GM's last operating assembly line was the climax of a series of halts caused by the national steel strike.

The shutdown will last until enough steel can be obtained and parts processed to fill supply lines at assembly plants. GM has declined to estimate how long this might be but industry sources expect the shutdown to last up to four weeks.

Normally, at this time of year GM's five car-making divisions would be turning out more than 80,000 units a week.

Most GM lines have been down for 10 days and production was curtailed even before then by parts shortages. GM has laid off 220,000 hourly employes out of a normal work force of 320,000.

Ford Motor Co. is operating on curtailed work weeks but plans to step up production by the end of November. Ford makes almost half of its own steel.

Railroad Tank Car Dives Into Lisbon Stream

LISBON — A railroad tank car, loaded with a caustic chemical solution lay on its side in Beaver Creek today, where it plunged from a bridge while being shifted to the Hood Chemical Co. plant Wednesday night.

An Erie Railroad Co. wrecking crew is slated to attempt to retrieve the 186,000-pound car, which poses a threat to fish and other wildlife should the contents start leaking.

The chemical is described as a sodium hydroxide compound with a 50 per cent lye solution, used by the chemical firm in producing a bleach.

The car derailed and fell from the bridge while being moved about 9 p. m., Willis Stanley, station agent, said.

County health authorities were notified and indicated the solution could kill fish or any game which drank water which was contaminated. Lisbon obtains its water from wells and leakage would not involve any water source for humans.

Hood officials said there apparently is no leakage now. The top of the car is out of the water, but a valve on the bottom of the car may have been damaged in the fall, it was indicated.

If the car cannot be raised without losing the contents, the solution will be pumped into another tank car, Erie officials said. The railroad officials said the cause of the derailment is being investigated.

Train Mishap Fatal To Steubenville Man

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A freight conductor for the Pennsylvania Railroad was injured fatally today while directing the shifting of cars on a siding here.

Samuel H. Cope, 45, of nearby Castonia, died in Ohio Valley Hospital about an hour after he was found under a boxcar by a member of his train crew. Hospital attendants said he suffered a skull fracture, compound fracture of the right arm and cuts and bruises.

Railroad officials said Cope apparently was knocked under the boxcar, but were unable to explain how the accident happened. There were no witnesses.

Wellsville Car Hurts Elderly Woman Afoot

Mrs. Rose Scarabino Hit On Broadway During Rainstorm

An elderly Wellsville woman is in "fair" condition today with injuries received when struck by a car while crossing a street at a Wellsville intersection during the rain Wednesday about 6:20 p. m.

Mrs. Rose Scarabino, 72, of 3rd St. was struck by the car driven by William Call, 38, of 231 Wells Ave. while crossing Broadway at 5th St.

She suffered a possible fractured pelvis, contusions of the left leg and abrasions of the left side of the head.

Call told police he had halted at the intersecton to avoid splashing water on another pedestrian. He said he didn't see Mrs. Scarabino until he started again. The car brushed her and knocked her to the pavement, police said.

Call was headed east on Broadway. No charges were filed.

Area Motorist Cited After Dresden Crash

An area motorist pleaded innocent today in Municipal Court to two charges filed as the aftermath of an accident Tuesday night in which his car struck a parked auto and utility pole on Dresden Ave.

John S. McCullough Jr., 39, of the Y. & O. Rd. entered the not guilty pleas when arraigned before Judge George L. Brokaw on charges of drunken driving and

Newark Man To Head Farm Bureau Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ferris Owen, of Newark, was re-elected president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation here Wednesday.

The group also re-elected six other officers as it closed its annual meeting with a discussion of proposed state and national policies for 1960.

Others re-elected were: Wendell Weller, of Urbana, vice president; D. R. Stanfield, of Westerville, executive vice president; Arnold Keller, of Elyria, treasurer; Charles W. Fullerton, of Columbus, assistant treasurer; C. Maurice Witing, of Columbus, vice president, and Howard Fresbach, of Columbus, general counsel.

John H. Weir of Carrollton was elected by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation to the board of trustees at the annual convention at Columbus this week. One of eight elected, he was chosen by District 13 representatives from Jefferson, Carroll, Harrison and Tuscarawas Counties.

A delegation of seven attended from Columbiana County, headed by Galen Greenisen of Salem R. D., member of the policy development committee.

About 1,500 delegates of the 50,000 - member organization attended the convention.

Delegates maintain they want the Ohio State Fair, terming it the best means for farm people to show their products to the rest of the state.

Only minor changes were made in the 22 pages of tentative recommendations, officials said. The federation's views on a wide variety of topics from health to telephones now goes to the American Farm Bureau Federation for consideration at the national level.

The Ohio group's tax policy includes a suggestion that the Ohio Legislative Service Commission study the usefulness of both a state and a local income tax as a possible means of relieving property from current taxation levels.

The farmers want 200 days instead of the current 120 days in which to file applications for gasoline tax refunds on off-highway vehicle use.

The federation suggested that a state fair commission be set up to hire a fair manager and determine policy. They also suggested enlargement of the grounds, modernization of fair buildings and year-around use of the facilities.

Ohio farmers are satisfied with present legislation on trespassing, the federation said, but it recommended "that all farmers carry farm liability insurance for protection against unknown risks."

Something Wrong With Social Order?

When James C. Hagerty speaks of "demagoguery" by union leaders who have been blasting the motives and methods of the government in getting the steel industry back to work, he is using the harshest word there is. The presidential press secretary did not choose it carelessly.

A demogogue seeks to make political capital of social discontent.

Otherwise, union leaders would be willing to talk about the steel dispute in terms of an industrial problem whose solution still is beyond the grasp of the men who have been trying to reach it in negotiations that started last spring.

Instead, some of unionism's spokesmen and some of their followers are talking about the problem as if it were the signal for an uprising to overthrow the existing order—as if they saw it as a war to the death between the people who manage the steel industry and the workers whose livelihood depends on solving the industry's problems.

THERE IS a frightening game that can be played with public statements. The game is to guess who said them and for what purpose without knowing the speaker's identity.

Who has said recently that Mr. Hagerty is a "lackey of big business"? In whose ideological vocabulary is the word "lackey" found in the mid-20th century?

Who has said recently that "500,000 steelworkers are the victims of the brutal intervention of government by injunctive power because profits have been made superior to people in the system of values that our government currently is committed to advance"?

These statements were made by Emil Mazey and Walter Reuther. They were not made by agitators for the overthrow of the system of capitalism that makes it possible for labor leaders in the United States to say what they please about the employers whose enterprise pays high wages to union members and who even collect union dues for some of unions whose spokesmen talk as if they would prefer to live under some other system.

APOLOGISTS for such wild-swinging talk are likely to say it's all part of the game. They compare it with political oratory, proverbially full of sound and fury signifying nothing.

But it cannot be explained that simply. Union orators are not in a political campaign that will end presently with a shaking of hands all around. What they say presumably reflects the aspirations and grievances of millions of men and women whose welfare is keyed to the success of private enterprise and the preservation of the kind of government that tries to uphold private enterprise.

Large numbers of their devoted followers take their cue from the speeches they hear. They believe these men when they say this government is their enemy, that they have been scourged like galley slaves by malicious plotters trying to grind them down; that no one is interested in them, except the people who talk like demagogues—not their neighbors, not their churches, not their communities, not their government.

It is dangerous talk.

It is an attempt to make political capital of social discontent. Worse than that, it is calculated to create the social discontent.

THERE IS NO place for it in the United States.

This country has problems—hundreds of them. It can solve them inside the framework of its traditions. It does not need to borrow the patter of Old World demagoguery or the thoughts of men who never have realized that the New World dares to do its own thinking and has been building a new social order on faith in free people working together, not in economic quacks and soap-box revolutionaries mouthing demagoguery.

Mitchell Predicted What Could Be

From now on, whenever Secretary of Labor Mitchell consults his oracle on future employment, he will make allowance for upsets.

That "hat-eating" ceremony in Washington symbolized more than a government official's willingness to keep a promise if he lost a bet.

Mitchell said last April that if October employment was not up by three million and unemployment down to no more than three million he would "eat the hat" that George Meany, president of AFL-CIO said he was talking through.

The fact is, he won the first part of the bet; October employment was up by three million. He lost the second part because the record-breaking length of the steel strike kept unemployment from dropping below three million. He had made no allowance for that upset.

The memorable thing about his guesswork is not what he guessed wrong but what he guessed right. Employment has gone up despite the steel strike. His confidence in the summer-fall pickup was so well founded that not even a steel strike could make an impact on the employment boom. Even as hearty an optimist as Secretary Mitchell would not have guessed this outcome had he known last spring what he knows at the beginning of this winter.

Even so, things are not as bright as the October reports of employment make them appear to be. The impact of the steel strike is still being felt. Unemployment may get worse before it gets better. If the steel strike were to be resumed in January, moreover, as President McDonald of United Steelworkers says it will be unless the negotiating companies knuckle under, there could be a collapse of employment early in 1960.

Railroad workers could be on strike by next spring. Other segments of organized labor could take a turn at tying up the country. The possibilities of booming employment are no longer based on demand for goods and services and prospects for satisfying them.

They are based these days on decisions of mass unionism as to whether the United States shall be permitted to realize its potentialities.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Connecticut car drivers are warned not to eat at the wheel. State cops say it has become common practice on thruways and is dangerous.

We think much depends on what a driver is eating. If it's a watermelon he's a menace to safety. The hot dog may be safe if in the hands of a driver with frankfurter-and-roll experience on the open road but novice hot dog eaters can be a real threat, especially if they are also novice auto drivers.

Perhaps if eating at the wheel is to be permitted there should be road tests, with eating licenses issued only to drivers who chew slowly and don't bolt a salad going around a sharp curve.

Eating at a wheel is, of course, dangerous under most conditions. An auto driver judges everything by speed. He thinks of distances when tackling a ham sandwich, tries to estimate the time taken to cover a hamburger end-to-end and blow his stack if passed by some autoist who eats faster.

He wonders how many miles he is getting to a tuna fish sandwich and if the curve ahead is too abrupt for a lobster roll.

Motorcycle cops in pursuit of lunch and dinner eaters on thruways may soon be busy in many states. (We slowed down to enjoy a cold lunch on the highway the other day and a motorcycle cop rolled up and demanded, "If you're eating why is your lunch light not lit?" And we fear the demand, "What do you think you're doing, operating a mobile clambake?"

ON CURRENT MORNING QUIZ show the other day a woman contestant answered a question before emcee had finished it, causing him to cry, "Please don't give any answer until you have heard the complete question."

British Field Marshal Alanbrooke's explanation that when he said Ike was on the golf course in serious war crisis he did not mean that he was playing golf but was at headquarters on an abandoned links. The field marshal seems to be getting out of a sand trap while standing on his head. (It's like saying Ike was at the ball park during press conference but not intending any implication that he was at a ball game.)

Locale of musical version of "Ah Wilderness" is called an imaginary town in Connecticut but there really is a Canterville between Waterbury and Hamden.

Woman was held up by some bandit twice in short time. Stickup men are getting so numerous they should be numbered.

MOSS HART, IRA GERSHWIN and others have written autobiographies of their careers and they are inspiring. But the story of Lindsay and Crouse would be fully as dramatic, especially that of "Buck" Crouse, who didn't get started in show biz until he was 40 or more and has been hitting the jackpot ever since, becoming one of the most famed figures in theater world.

Crouse was columnist for the old New York "Post" when he switched to press agenting for Theater Guild in the late 30's. He had hit Gotham as a green hand from the Middle West, joining the "Globe" almost the same month as the writer of this column.

When Munsey bought and ended the "Globe," Crouse got a job with "Mail" for a while.

He was a jovial guy with plenty of bounce and ability and a swell companion but didn't seem to be going anywhere in particular when by sheer chance he teamed up with Lindsay, turning out "Life With Father," a colossal hit in 1939. "Arsenic and Old Lace," "State of the Union," and a dozen other hits followed, the pair making a fabulously well-fitted team of collaborators. Now they have "The Sound of Music" coming in and one of the sure-fire sensations of the season.

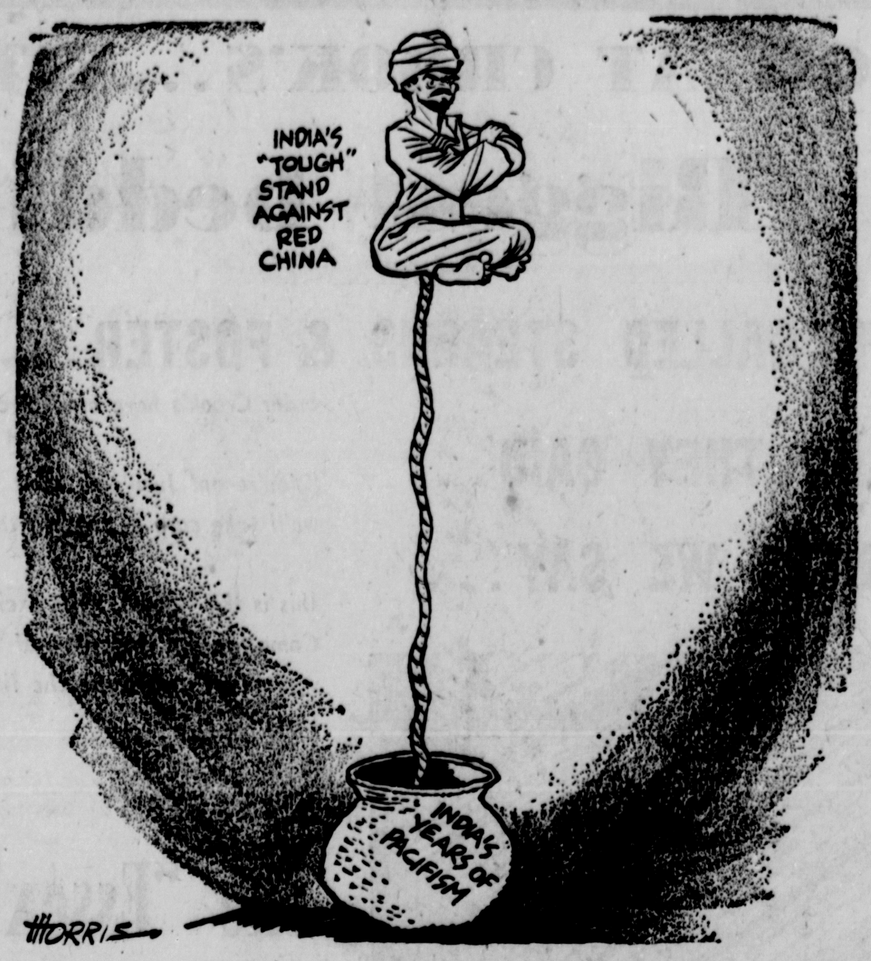
DEAN OF COLUMBIA LAW SCHOOL says he is amazed by the number of students who come in after four years in college completely deficient in basic ability to write. "Compositons are graceless and distressingly ungrammatical," he says, adding that law school has to operate as a type of correctional institution." Ya mean the boys finish high school, prep and college and find writing and spelling too deep! !

WASHINGTON SCIENTIST says glorious colors of autumn are due to loss of "chlorophyll" in green pigment of leaves. "Carotenoids" and "anthocryanisms" also are responsible for the pageantry. This is disappointing. We had always thought nature was responsible.

Among some folks in quiz shows there was an idea that honesty as well as lipsticks and blood pills should come in a dozen shades.

Even the severest critic of Van Doren has to admit that the lad was surrounded by hanky-panky artists and practically cut off from retreat. If some people in the TV industry didn't have the slightest suspicion of rigged programs they must have been sufferers from ear trouble, defective vision and a lost sense of smell.

Things Have Changed



Bridges Faces Labor Law Action

By Victor Riesel

Harry Bridges, dockwalloping friend of one N. S. Khrushchev, soon may be on the Justice Department's docket for trying to wallop the new labor reform law. The tart-tongued West Coast Longshoremen's Union chief may be subpenaed by the Criminal Division before he wafts off for Moscow again.

Victor Riesel

At the moment the Labor Rights Unit of the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section of the Criminal Division of the Justice Department is considering testing the new law first on Brother Bridges.

Seems he informed the government that it just wasn't his task to report under Section 504 of the statute which requires he ousting of criminals and Communists from office in any union.

So Labor Secretary James Mitchell tossed the case to the five-man Labor Rights Unit. It can haul in Bridges if it wants to—and it appears to want to.

Meanwhile, back in the rangy Labor Department, special enforcement groups are slowly being put together—all the way from a new investigations unit under a former FBI agent to a special "Disclosure Room" in a corner of the top floor.

ONE THING is certain—and this will be tough on the unions—from now on no labor organization can ever again have any secrets if it fully complies with the Labor and Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959.

Few outsiders yet know how the law will operate but this is what is now in low gear. There will be an assistant commissioner for enforcement and one for reports.

The enforcer is ex-FBI man Daniel L. O'Connor, who has been practicing law in Washington. He has 100 men, some of them borrowed from other divisions.

When O'Connor is all set for high speed he will have up to 400 on the staff. Some will come from the old McClellan committee staff of 90 investigators. But the bulk will be men hired in the field—men with no labor or management connections.

O'Connor hopes to have fully operating units in New York, Atlanta, Chicago, Kansas City, Mo., San Francisco and Dallas to begin with. But no rank-and-filer need wait for any formal opening. Anyone with a complaint can walk into a regional Labor Department office now and ask for help.

Fact is that the enforcement division already has begun to spend some of the Labor Department's two million dollars probing at least 100 serious complaints. These are of all kinds in many unions.

O'Connor has talked to McClellan committee investigators. So he isn't exactly starting with the handicap of the uninitiated.

WHAT CONFUSES some observers is the fact that the McClellan committee files are sitting in a big empty room down the other end of Pennsylvania Ave. waiting to be carted off into that musty subworld of dusty untouched Senate archives.

No one seems to know why they're not being sped over to the Labor Department's enforcers.

The deparment soon will have the most unusual set of files of its own. Already these are beginning to accumulate in the "Disclosure Room"—similar to what the Securities Exchange Commission has in its library on U.S. business.

The "Disclosure Room" within a year or so will have microfilmed sets of all union finances, expenses collected by all union officials, loans, advances, investments, etc., etc.

These files will be under the supervision of a knowledgeable Labor Department career officer, Murray Weisz. He is the other assistant commissioner. He will be in charge of "reports."

As the reports grow they'll be available to anyone who wants to drop in. Anyone. That means the public, a union member, a newsman or an employer. For 26 cents a page anyone can have photostated any confidential union matter—or that of any labor relations counselor.

Almost unnoticed, this country has slipped quietly into a new era. The McClellan committee heat may be off but the new law provides a permanent central heating system.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I do not believe those union big shots who say steelworkers are reluctant to get back on the job—that they are being forced into involuntary servitude by the bullwhips of a ruthless government. In plain talk, I think the union big shots are "rigged."

No one disagrees with me when I comment that late autumn is one of the prettiest and most serene times of the year, yet people who agree on this would disagree if you said the years just before old age are pretty slick, too.

The outcome of the Castro revolution in Cuba has set me up as a minor prophet, because I insisted when he took over the government that any revolution in that poverty-ridden and politically unstable country must come to the same sorry end. Fulgencio Batista was a liberator once, too, before his ruthless opponents turned him into a ruthless tyrant.

It never has come to my attention that any college which went all out for football didn't end up with the pigskin tail wagging the educational dog, or with a decision to take all the emphasis off football. The moral is that semi-professional athletes and bona fide students are not compatible.

I follow with avid interest all ideas about beautifying the downtown areas of cities and particularly the new idea of converting downtown streets into malls for the pleasure of the people who own the streets. All people who once lived in a town with a public square, featuring trees, fountains, bandstands, squirrels and benches to sit on, are fascinated by the way the great planners of today are rediscovering the design of most old-fashioned towns in this country.

I do not understand how civilized people in their right minds can get angry enough in domestic quarrels to commit physical violence. To stalk out of the house, to go home to mother, to slam the door—yes. But to strike a spouse with a fist or to stab with a knife or shoot with a gun—no.

A reader of The New York Herald Tribune finally said what pointers and pundits had been trying to say about the quiz show scandals—that "the former contestants are being compelled, under threat of committing perjury, to admit in public to moral wrongdoing in an area accessible only to the judgment of individual conscience. They are, and in a very real way, being convicted ex-post facto by the publication of their actions." Congratulations to Rudolph von Abele, professor of English, American University, Washington, D.C.

As a taxpayer I will object if Congress reimburses the cranberry industry out of general funds for the damage done to it by a bureaucratic blooper. I want the reimbursement, if any, to come out of the appropriation for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which pulled the blooper.

When I see the perfunctory observance of Veterans Day, I remember how I wept as a child when the first Armistice Day was commemorated in our town and we paid our solemn respects to the heroes who had made the world safe for democracy.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The Kiwnais Club endorsed the annual Red Cross roll call beginning Nov. 26.

Paul O'Brien, son of the Rev. and Mrs. A. H. O'Brien of St. Clair Ave., was appointed drum major at Denison College, Granville.

Patrolman Norman McFarland was appointed desk sergeant.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Columbiana County election board announced that 31,247 ballots were cast, setting a new county record for an off-year election.

Twenty-five workers enrolled for the annual Red Cross campaign conducted by the Newell branch.

Donald Wollam was named master of the Calcutta Grange.

TEN YEARS AGO — Carl Nightingale was elected first mayor of the newly-incorporated village of Irondale.

McKinley School reached 100 per cent enrollment in the Junior Red Cross Call among Wellsville public schools.

The Blue Ramblers from Tiltonsville defeated Wellsville, 40-0, at Nicholson Stadium.

Letter To The Editor

I doubt if The Review has ever printed a Letter To The Editor which I have not read.

I believe one of the finest letters to appear in this column was a letter by a Mr. K. O. Wilson Saturday, Nov. 7. Congratulations, Mr. Wilson! You said something which needed said very well.

Congratulations also are in order to The Review staff, especially whomever is responsible for the Letter To The Editor column. Because even though The Review staff seems to constantly favor Republicanism, management and certain bond and tax issues, they have the guts to stick to their principles even when they are loosing at the polls.

On the other hand, they show by printing such articles as the one by Mr. Wilson that they are not narrow-minded or prejudiced, but only that they stick by what they believe.

We, the working people, respect your right to whatever opinions The Review staff prints, but we also greatly respect your open-mindedness to print articles which disagree with you. Again congratulations!

It makes us proud to say The Review is our paper.

Labor's Monopoly

By David Lawrence

Are Union Leaders Out Of Touch?

Judging by their speeches and comments, many of the prominent leaders of union labor have never been more out of touch with the temper of the workers and with public opinion generally than they are today.

David Lawrence

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, for instance, referring to the injunction in the steel strike, has just said to a convention of labor unions:

"If a law can compel a worker to work against his will, in my book it's a slave labor law."

But isn't it a "slave labor law" when an American citizen wants to work but is forbidden to do so unless he joins a union?

This section of the Taft-Hartley law has been a boon to labor-union growth and applies in all states except a few which have enacted "right-to-work" laws to emancipate the workers.

What Mr. Meany and other labor leaders really object to is any law that isn't administered in favor of the labor unions.

The President of the United States is required under the Taft-Hartley Act to invoke an injunction for 80 days when there is a national emergency due to a strike but there is nothing in the law that says he must favor either side or settle the strike with a victory for one side over the other.

YET EMIL MAZEY, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, who seems to think that the President can favor either side by the use of an injunction, has just issued an attack on the personal integrity of President Eisenhower.

In a speech to the same convention at which Mr. Meany spoke, Mr. Mazey said that Mr. Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley injunction as a "political pay-off" and cited campaign contributions by various steel men as the motivation.

The implication was that the President was influenced by this in declaring a national emergency. Such an accusation will not be given credence by the public.

The White House has denounced it as "demagoguery." The gratuious attack on the President for doing his duty is the type of blunder the labor leaders make nowadays because they think they have the upper hand not only with the workers but with the public, too.

What the labor leaders are unwilling to concede is that they have been using monopoly power to close down an industry.

R. Conrad Cooper, who is chief negotiator for the steel companies in the negotiations with the unions, has put his finger on the absolutism of a labor leader today. In a speech last Friday he said:

"No man in the management of any steel company — no matter how large the company or how high the office he may hold — can shut down the American steel industry and deprive the American people of the products of its mills. Nor can any single individual in government do so — not even the President of the United States.

"No, among all the 170 million people in America there is only one man who can choke off our nation's steel supply at will and that man is the president of the Steelworkers Union.

"That is a power which he alone can exercise and it is a power which he has exercised in every steel wage negotiation that has occurred in the past five years."

AN EXAMPLE of the arbitrariness of the leader of the Steelworkers Union, David McDonald, came this week when he said in a speech that the union would not grant concessions to steel firms which have not junked all obsolete mills and machinery. He added:

"We will show no mercy to those companies who are laggards and do not engage in research or modernize but would make profits at the expense of the steelworkers . . . . they have no right to exist in a modern world such as ours."

This disregards the individual capacity of a company to earn enough money so it can eventually replace obsolete equipment. It threatens the continued existence of companies of which labor unions disapprove.

The crux of the labor-management problem today is industry-wide bargaining.

Congress has never come to grips with this issue. Thus, it would do no good to forbid employers to band together into a single committee to handle all their negotiations, because the real power is usually vested in a national union that controls the workers in all plants.

Even if the employers, moreover, were forbidden to confer with each other on strike issues or negotiate in concert and make industry agreements, the national union could strike first one plant and then another and gradually shut down an industry with demands that uniform wage rates be paid, irrespective of the size of a company or its capacity to pay.

There can be no objection to the formation of national associations of labor unions to discuss union problems but where they attempt to exercise power by ordering strikes that local unions may not wish to undertake or by insisting on uniform expiration dates of contracts, the monopoly power is complete.

This is going to be the big issue in the new legislation Congress will be asked to pass at its next session.

De Gaulle Takes Charge

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

French President Charles de Gaulle, iron-willed at 68, acts like a man determined, if he has to, to take over the leadership of the West. He has already asserted a lot of it.

This week the Frenchman, so proud he dislikes using reading glasses in public, dictated to his Western partners and the Soviet Union the time and conditions for a summit conference.

At an extraordinary news conference De Gaulle, who heads a second-rate power but persists in thinking of it in terms of grandeur, put on an amazing show of memory, calmness and strength.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's attitude toward a summit meeting has been: The sooner the better. President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev have seemed to favor such a meeting sooner rather than later.

But De Gaulle, after taking over a sagging France and giving it more stability than it has had since World War II, decided by himself that haste was unwise. He even put a stiff "if" on any summit conference at all.

Before there's a summit, he said, he must meet with Khrushchev in March; there must be an improvement in the international climate and the Western partners must be agreed on how to deal with Khrushchev.

And, just to be sure, he told Eisenhower and Macmillan his pre-summit get-together with them in December should be followed by another after he talks with Khrushchev in March.

This is only part of his statements at the news conference. They ranged from pensions for French veterans of World War I to a prediction the Chinese Communists would ultimately be their Soviet friends' greatest peril.

Altogether the text of his news conference took up a solid newspaper page.

In the end De Gaulle may have proved extremely wise in insisting upon complete preparations for the summit. Otherwise, he warned, the summit may turn into disaster.

B. J. Cutler, the New York Herald Tribune's Paris reporter who attended the news conference, said that because De Gaulle does not want to use reading glasses in public, he memorized his 14-minute opening statement to the 700 correspondents invited to hear him and ask questions. He also memorized 45 minutes of statistic-packed answers to questions he had anticipated. It was a fantastic memory feat, as you will have noticed if you read the text.

What De Gaulle said, and the way he said it, had a sweep, a nobility, and an absolute kind of articulateness which this writer has not seen in the text of a news conference by the head of any government in years.

The use of the word extraordinary to describe the news conference was justified by the word picture of it given by Crosby Noyes, writing from Paris for the Washington Evening Star.

It was held in the great hall of Elysee Palace with its fantastic gingerbread ceiling, crystal chandeliers, and gobelin tapestries, he said. The 700 invited newsmen settled themselves on gilt Louis XV chairs with pink seats.

Most of the diplomatic and literary world was there as were members of the President's household and the Cabinet.

Exactly on time the gold brocade curtains parted, De Gaulle strode in, with no staff and carrying no papers. He gestured the audience to sit down.

Noyes contrasted De Gaulle's idea of a news conference with that of some Western political leaders.

"There's no question who is in control," he said. "For De Gaulle it is simply an opportunity to say exactly what he wants to say with the enormous precision of a man who has memorized the answers down to the last detail."

Speaker Cites Rail Carriers' Tax Payments

LISBON — Columbiana County will receive nearly $300,000 in property taxes from railroads this year, the Lisbon Lions Club was told Wednesday night by Verne B. Henderson, a representative of the Railroad Community Committee of the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys.

Speaking at a meeting at the club's cabin near Willow Grove Park, Henderson said taxes from railroads serving the county amounted to $297,556 in 1958, compared with $228,384 in 1948 — a 30 per cent increase.

Henderson pointed out that $200,773 of the total 1958 railroad taxes in Columbiana County was designated for public schools — almost 67 per cent of the total. The figures were released from statistics compiled by Ohio railroads.

Ohio railroads paid more than $22 million in property taxes in 1958, Henderson said, compared to $14 million in 1948, a gain of more than $8 million.

At the same time, revenue freight ton miles declined approximately 10 per cent and the revenue passenger miles declined almost 50 per cent, he said.

Ohio schools received the majority of the 1958 tax assessment, $14,278,063. Henderson said the $14.2 million paid to public school operation in Ohio is the equivalent of educating 47,296 children for one year, paying salaries for 3,142 teachers or building 490 new classrooms.

Henderson, who is district freight office manager for the Pennsylvania Railroad, added: "The tax shakedown of the railroads across the nation is inflicting such deep financial wounds that despite all we have done to help ourselves, our very existence as a private enterprise service is being undermined."

Henderson said that every railroad serving Ohio has industrial development men at work to locate new industry in the state. During the last 5 years, he said, railroad industrial development departments have brought more than 1,000 new industries into Ohio, providing employment.

'Case Of Pregnant Prisoner' Leads To Firing Of 3 Deputies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The sheriff has fired three deputies accused of having intimate relations with women prisoners at the county jail.

Furthermore, Sheriff M. A. Hinds said others may be fired by the time he completes the investigation touched off by the "case of the pregnant prisoner."

Two of the deputies protested bitterly. Kenneth Mattox, 22, and David Climer, 27, said they were falsely accused. They said they were refused a lie detector test.

Hinds said the discharged men were not involved with Lela Fay Fleck, 22, whose embarrassing pregnancy started it all. It was a separate matter involving two other women, he added.

Mrs. Fleck, serving one to five years for robbery, is in City Hospital awaiting the birth of her baby.

Mattox and Climer, who both worked inside the jail, said the young women named by Hinds had threatened to get them fired for refusing to do favors.

The sheriff fired the three men without an announcement but Mattox and Climer went to newsmen with their protest. The third deputy, John Chesley Lowry, 25, was another rookie on the force.

Hinds said affidavits in the case were sworn by Shelby Jean Pettyjohn, 21, of Memphis and Sheila Swann, 19, of near Winston-Salem, N.C.

Bringing Up A Family

Magazine Evaluates TV Programs

In the September issue of the National Parent - Teacher, Editor Eva Grant waged a crusade for better TV for children. She alerted parents to the menace of gore and horror programs exposed to children. She says, without mincing words, what many other parent - teacher leaders have long believed but never had the courage to say in print: "We are weary of being told that although a steady diet of aggression and violence may be harmful to children, there is no evidence to show that it really is." Shall we wait for statistical proof, she asks, "when reason and intuition tell us that programs of violence may be hurtful to children?"

By Garry Meyers

FURTHERMORE, she says, "We are skeptical that blood-and-thunder programs have a healthful effect because they siphon off a child's natural hostility."

What defenders of gore and horror on TV overlook is that, while some hostility might be siphoned off, the supply of it is replenished many times over. Besides, the viewing child grows hardened to pain and suffering in others and comes to think of human life as cheap — points I have often pounded on in this column.

Following the magazine's editorial, "Time Out for Television", there begins in the September issue the long - awaited department, "Evaluation of TV Programs". This is the composite thinking of a viewing group of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. California and other states are organizing similar viewing and evaluating groups.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS evaluated in this issue are Captain Kangaroo, Circus Boy, Ding Dong School, Howdy Doody, Lassie, Mighty Mouse and Romper Room.

For Teen-agers: Dick Clark, Father Knows Best.

Thrillers and Westerns: Bold Venture, Shock Theatre, Wanted Dead or Alive.

I wish every mother of a child over 1 or 2 years of age would study this evaluation department in the National-Parent Teacher magazine every month. Subscription price is $1.50 a year in the United States and possessions, $1 in Canada. Address: 700 North Rush Street, Chicago 11, Illinois.

You could do much good by writing to broadcasting companies and sponsors about the programs you don't approve; also, about those you do approve. In the meanwhile, by persuading or forbidding, help your child select his TV fare. Afterall, you are responsible for what your child views on TV.

BEGIN WITH the youngster under 3 or 4, having taught him to accept No as final.

My bulletin, "How to Teach Child Meaning of No" and a reprint from the September issue of Education, "Our Children, Television and the Press," may be had by sending a self - addressed, U. S. stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband sells vacuum cleaners direct to the consumer. This means he is in and out of women's homes all day. I never gave it a thought till my neighbor put a bug in my ear.

She says it's not humanly possible for an attractive man like my husband to be with women all day, in the privacy of their homes, and not get involved here and there.

She said she trusts him, but claims a man has to be made of wood not to weaken sooner or later.

We have three children and get along fine. He makes good money, likes his work and is always home on time. I'm ashamed to admit it but I've examined his clothes for lipstick and have found no traces. Please comment. — QUESTION MARK.

-:-

Dear Q.M.: Tell needle-nose to mind her own business and not to bore you with her suspicions. I suspect she's either unmarried or having trouble with her husband. Find other "friends." This woman doesn't have your interests at heart.

Four Success Rules

Dear Ann: This may not seem like a problem to you — but it sure is a big one to me.

I'm a senior in high school and I can count on my thumb the number of live dates I've had this semester. I'm no knockout but I get my share of whistles. People tell me I have a swell personality, that I'm a "good kid" and lots of fun. But still — no dates.

It can't be that my brains are scaring the fellows off. I'm not that smart. I'm just an average student.

Give me a clue, Ann. What can I do to prevent this year from being a total flop?—WHY.

-:-

Dear Why: You may be "a swell kid," but you haven't learned how to make fellows comfortable in your presence. For the umpteenth time:

1. Be friendly — not aggressive but at least let a fellow know you know he's alive. Sometimes all you need to say is "Hi."

2. When you're alone with a guy ask him questions about things he's interested in — then show genuine interest in his answers.

3. Get a fellow to talk about himself. It's everyone's favorite subject.

4. Be cheerful and fun to be around. This means no backbiting, undercutting or gossip. It reduces you at once in a boy's eyes.

If you work on these four points, I guarantee business will improve. Good look.

Your Secret

Dear Ann: When I was young I had a daughter out of wedlock. The same year, I married a man who was a saint. He has always treated this girl like his very own. We now have four other children and are a happy family.

A thousand times I've wanted to tell this girl the truth but I'm so afraid she'll lose respect for me. She's almost 16 and very kind and understanding but I can't get up the nerve. Can you suggest a way to tell her so she won't have a low opinion of me? — GUILTY CONSCIENCE.

-:-

Dear Guilty: There's no reason to tell your daughter or anyone else about the past. The only one who has a right to know is your husband. And he knows — so forget it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Capt. Johnson asserted the four duties of church members in these days of national peril are:

1. Convince their fellow Americans that their country's ideals, convictions, and values have come from God.
2. Realize the clear issue that these ideals are engaged in a life and death struggle with Communism.

Masons Stage Banquet Event

Some 160 attended a banquet of Chester Masonic Lodge 142 Wednesday night at the Temple, marking the 50th anniversary of the lodge.

William R. Loper of Wheeling, past grand master, presented an illustrated talk, and Fred E. Dunn of Chester and Clyde Dunn of Miami, Fla. — the lodge's two living charter members — were honored guests.

Other guests were Harry Frederick of Wheeling, district deputy grand master; George Boyd of Wheeling, district lecturer; Edward Supplee of Weirton, potentate of Osiris Temple at Wheeling, and Charles McElroy of Wheeling, recorder of Osiris Temple.

George Whaley of Newell, past master, was toastmaster, and Edwin Wine, past master, gave the invocation and recognized women present. Harold Jividen, master, gave the welcome. Group singing was led by Harold Dickey, past master.

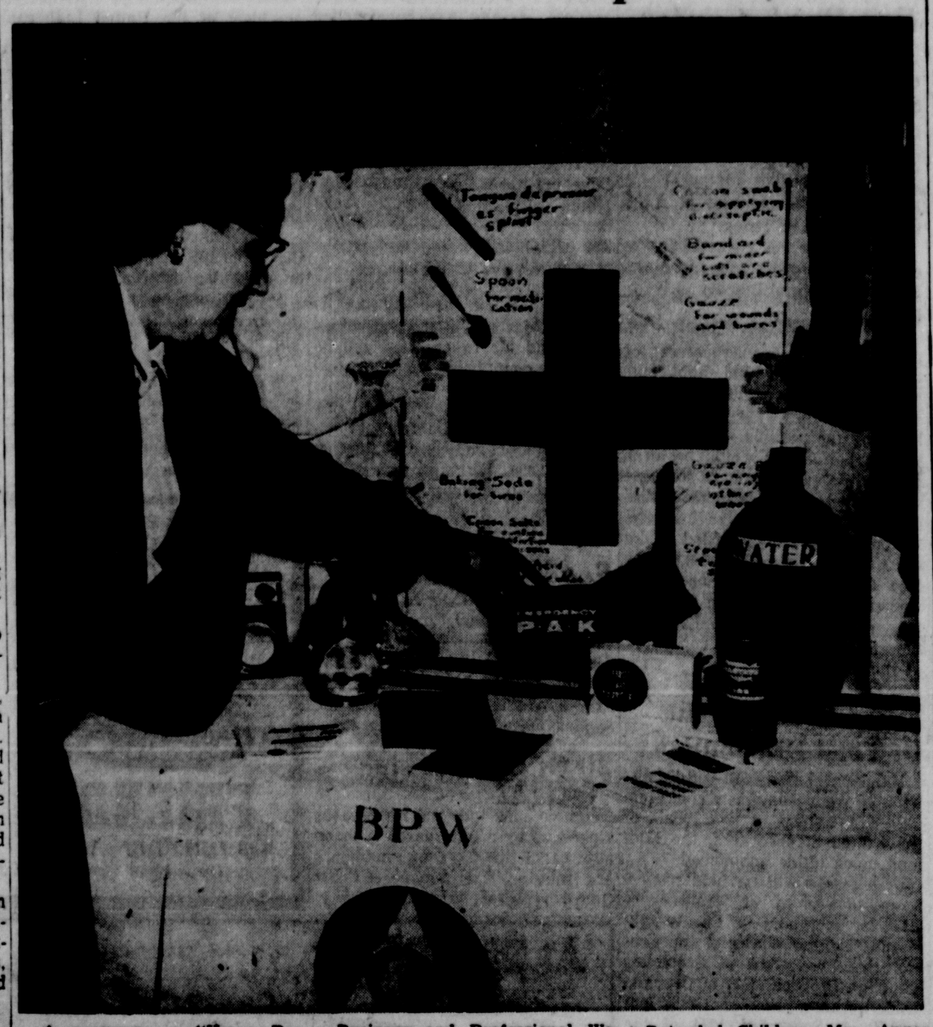
Dr. Paul Dunn of Miami, who accompanied his father from Florida, also was a guest.

The first meetings of the lodge, founded in 1909, were held in a room over a store on Ferry Rd. Two years later, the lodge moved to rooms in the Chester Hotel at Virginia Ave. and 1st St. The lodge obtained the former John Shrader home of 1st St. and held the first meeting there — the present temple — in 1921.

E. R. Chandler was chairman of the 50th anniversary committee, which included Jividen, Dickey, Whaley, Wine, Denver Sims, Burton Ward, Howard Allison and William Higgins.

A total of 1,151 Americans died of infantile paralysis during the epidemic of 1943.

BPW Learns Of CD Preparedness



A program on "Home Preparedness for Civil Defense" followed a dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel. Some 65 attended.

Mrs. Dorothy Evans, chairman of the public affairs committee which arranged the presentation, is shown examining the essentials necessary for survival in an atomic attack. Among the items are a two-week supply of water, first aid kit, battery radio, flash lights, oil lamps, emergency pack and fire extinguisher.

The tables were decorated with red, white and blue streamers and lighted tapers. An antique hurricane lamp centered the speaker's table.

Mrs. Edna Sweeney, secretary of the city Civil Defense Council, spoke on the aims of the program and asked for public support. Mrs. Ila Shingler read an article on "Nuclear Warfare" published in Good Housekeeping Magazine. Two Red Cross films on "First Aid" were screened.

Mrs. Edna Jones summarized the defense program and distributed cards for "Civil Defense Preparedness." The audience also received booklets on "The First 14 Days of Survival" and "Home Health Emergencies."

Mrs. Eileen Brown sang several selections, accompanying herself on the piano.

Committee members assisting with the program were: Miss Olive Williamson, Miss Hazel McShane, Mrs. Faye Wright, Mrs. Gertrude Reese, Mrs. Fran Smith, Mrs. Helen Downard and Miss Gladys Rinehart. Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, conducted business. Mrs. Reese, acting secretary, read the minutes and Mrs. Alice Bair gave the treasurer's report.

Letters of thanks for recent contributions were read from the Child Counseling Center and the Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children. Mrs. Anges Merritt, state president, sent a congratulatory letter for activity during BPW Week and reminded the group of "Know Your America Week" Nov. 22.

Mrs. Geraldine Bricker, federation chairman, announced the list of BPW items for sale. A report on the music for the Christmas program was given by Mrs. Louise Brookman Taylor. Mrs. Mary Bulger read a paper on the strengthening of the state and local laws on national security.

In regard to the Tri-State Science Fair, Miss Frances Jones, chairman, reported 50 forms with the new rules and regulations have been mailed to the schools. She announced the first meeting for student training will be held Nov. 19.

Miss Gladys DeBolt was congratulated on her election as president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Dunlop appointed the following committees to assist with the federation program: Miss Rachel Ketchum and Mrs. Wilma Mason, social; Mrs. Ruby Dawson and Mrs. Donna Allison, project, and Miss Williamson and Mrs. Hazel Mast, senior citizens.

Gifts for the children at the Clinic Christmas party may be left with Mrs. Mae Hartt, chairman, by Dec. 5. The party is set Dec. 13 at the Elks Club. Miss Helen Bibbee and Mrs. Mildred Urie will have charge of the project of providing Christmas gifts for a local needy family.

The president closed the meeting with the reading of a proverb from "The Friendly Book." Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Louise Lawton won special prizes. There will be no board meeting this month. The Christmas party and gift exchange will be held Dec. 9 at the hotel. The program will be in charge of the mutual service, music and public relations committee.

Club Changes Benefit's Date

At a special meeting of the Midland Tuscon Club Wednesday night, it was announced that an exhibition basketball game that the club is sponsoring will not be held Nov. 24, but sometime in mid-December.

A definite date will be announced. The club met Monday evening in the Masonic Hall and made plans for the game, with proceeds to aid the club's charity projects, Carl Lacey, president, said.

Will Leavell is co-chairman with Lacey. The game will feature the Harlem Satellites of Grand Rapids, Mich., a team similar to the Harlem Globetrotters, and the local College All-Stars, made up of area players at colleges and universities at Pittsburgh, Steubenville, Geneva and Youngstown.

The Midland Board of Education at a meeting Monday evening approved Nov. 24 for the game to be played in the new gymnasium. Because of confusion in playing dates of the Michigan team, a new date will be set, Lacey said.

The next meeting will be Dec. 14.

Handiwork Displayed For PTA At Westgate

An estimated 125 attended a meeting of Westgate Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday night in the junior high school cafeteria.

Visitations were held in the elementary rooms prior to the business meeting and handiwork of students was displayed.

Ralph Widger, president, presided. A report on a workshop held in MacDonald school in Wellsville last month was presented by Clyde McCain, a delegate.

Another report was given on a City PTA Federation meeting held Monday night. Lunch was served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Ray Rigdon and other homeroom mothers. A candy sale was held.

A Christmas program by students will feature the next meeting Dec. 15 at 7:30 p. m. in the school, according to Mrs. Dale Franklin, reporter.

Counseling Group Given Aid By PTA

A contribution of $100 to the Child Counseling Center was authorized by the Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association at a meeting Tuesday night at the school.

About 60 attended the meeting, at which Mrs. Russell Smith of the center spoke on the functions of the counseling organization and the behavior patterns in the 6- to 12-year age groups.

In other action, the group authorized joining the National Congress of Federated PTA. The Rev. John Call, former pastor of the Anderson Methodist Church, led devotions.

Charles Haugh, president, was in charge. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Virginia Edwards, second grade room, and Mrs. Beryl Lightner's fifth grade room.

The next meeting will be Dec. 8, when a musical program will be presented by the Sweet Adelines chorus.

How hath the mighty fallen, as the Potters surge ahead;
Proud Central, Bold Warren are fallen cold and dead;
As other foes, in trembling, are waiting for their fate
As the proud and peerless Potters finish out their slate.

Now hail to all the fathers of this matchless football team;
How filled with pride and vigor; how happy they all seem!
How sweet the song of victory as the Potters march along;
How pleasant to their eager ears the plaudits of the throng!

Now hear the Fathers cheering—as they have every right—
They want another victory for those loyal lads tonight—
So play the game with fury, and every foe defy,
And let Blue and White Forever be the burden of your cry!

Health, Safety Group Details Public Role In Disease Control

LISBON — The people of Columbiana County, functioning through voluntary health agencies, have participated in the control of certain diseases, according to officials of the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council.

The Columbiana County Public Health League, the anti-tuberculosis organization, headed by Miss Lillian Schroeder, has for years carried on an active tuberculosis control program in co-operation with the county and city health departments. Contributions through the purchase of Christmas Seals are used to finance the work of the league. Among its functions are early discovery of the disease through chest X-rays and education on tuberculosis control.

Mrs. Jane Jolly of East Liverpool, a graduate nurse, is employed by the American Cancer Society in Columbiana County. The work of the society includes research, education and community services. Distribution of literature on cancer and showing of films to interested groups are phases of the educational work. Follow-up care of patients and preparation of case histories are phases of community service.

Columbiana County is a part of the Youngstown Area Heart Association, a chapter of the American Heart Society. Mrs. Earl J. Gruber of Hanoverton, a graduate nurse, is working in the county for this organization. Her duties are divided into education and community service.

Films, talks and distribution of literature are phases of the educational work. Mrs. Gruber works in selected schools on rheumatic fever control. She also follows up on rheumatic fever cases reported by doctors and refers cardiac cases to the clinic. Research work of the Heart Society has made possible surgery for cardiac circulatory illnesses.

The Columbiana County Health and Safety Council is a large committee consisting of representatives of all the various voluntary and official health agencies and organizations interested in health and safety. It serves as a coordinating committee and promotes health education. Mrs. Ralph Phillis of Salem is president.

The Columbiana County Mental Health Association, organized by the County Health and Safety Council a few years ago, has worked to promote mental health activities, including county conferences of teachers and other interested persons. Mayor William Shoub of Wellsville is president.

A chapter of the National Foundation functions in the county, with E. Allan McKeever of East Liverpool and Mrs. Winifred Byers of Salem as chairman and secretary, respectively. The organization handles contributions for polio control and follows up on local cases.

Other national voluntary health agencies with some work being done in Columbiana County include muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis and cerebral palsy. The hospital auxiliaries in East Liverpool, Salem, Lisbon and Columbiana make bandages for hospitals.

Perhaps the best known phase of health work, not entirely voluntary although supported by voluntary organizations, is the school health work done with the help of school nurses. Graduate nurses are employed by the East Liverpool, Salem, Lisbon, Leetonia, Beaver Local, United Local, Columbiana, Wellsville, East Palestine and West Local schools. Mrs. Violet Peterson, County Health Department nurse, works with schools that cannot afford to employ nurses.

Breeders Association Dinner Draws 150 To Winona Church

LISBON — Approximately 150 attended the annual Central Ohio Breeders Association banquet at the Winona Methodist Church Wednesday evening.

Lee Haynam of East Rochester and J. Harold McCullough of Salem R. D. 2 were elected committeemen for three years. They succeed Virgil Whinnery of Salem and Leo Davis of East Rochester R. D. 1. They will take office Jan. 1.

Bryce Tharp of Minerva R. D. 2, one of the three technicians, reported that they expect to breed 6,000 cows in the county this year. His report showed an increase of 185 in 1958.

Columbiana County is one of the 57 counties in the state where cattle are bred by artificial insemenation. The county ranks 7th in the state, with 37 per cent of all cows bred in this manner.

Richard Kellogg of Columbus gave a manager's report on COBA. The group is expanding into Texas and Colorado. Texas will breed 50,000 cows this year and Colorado, 11,500. With expectation of 251,500 services listed this year for an income of $1,364,340, the 1964 goal is set at 375,000 services with income of $1,750,000.

William J. Tyznik, professor of animal science at Ohio State University, was guest speaker.

J. Frank Morris of Columbiana R. D. 2, chairman and state director, was toastmaster. He introduced the present COBA committeemen, Lewis Justison East Palestine R. D. 2, secretary, Edwin Copeland of Hanoverton R. D. 1, treasurer, John Yaggi Jr. of Alliance R. D. 5, Leo Davis of East Rochester R. D. 1, Virgil Whinnery of Salem R. D. 3 and Walter Boyd of Wellsville R. D. 1.

A piano duet by Paul and David Morris, a flute and clarinet duet by Lois and Joyce Whinnery and a duet by Janet and Marilyn Copeland comprised entertainment.

The Rev. Charles Richardson of the Franklin Square Methodist Church gave the invocation.

Memorial Service Set For City Kaycee Group

Plans were completed for the annual commemorative service for deceased members Nov. 17 at 8 p. m. when Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, met Tuesday night in the K. of C. Home.

The council officers, headed by Fr. Thomas G. Mulhearn, an assistant at St. Aloysius Catholic Church and chaplain of the council, will be in charge of ceremonies. James McGowan, a past grand knight, is chairman of the event and James Buchheit, grand knight, will preside. Music will be under the supervision of James O'Reilly.

McGowan also gave a report on the second phase of the annual statewide youth fund drive, in which the local council is participating. The drive will close Dec. 5.

Thousands View Parade

HIGHLIGHTS OF MIDLAND PROGRAM. A color guard marched smartly along Midland Ave., Midland, Wednesday morning in a Veterans Day observance sponsored by Beaver County American Legion posts. The lower photo shows activity at a dinner at which 104 Beaver County Gold Star Mothers were honored. Left to right are the Rev. Ray A. McCreight of the Four-Mile United Presbyterian Church, Congressman Frank Clark of Bessemer, Mrs. Harriet Montgomery of Beaver, Mrs. H. L. Henderson of Sharpsville, Mrs. Nell Gallatin of Aliquippa and John Reider, commander of Midland American Legion Post 481.

Thousands lined sidewalks at Midland Wednesday morning, to see a Veterans' Day parade of over 50 units and 2,000 marchers.

The countywide observance was sponsored by American Legion posts with Midland Post 481 as host. In the afternoon, a Gold Star Mothers' dinner was held at the Steelworkers Hall.

Special guests for the parade included Rep. Frank M. Clark of the 25th Pennsylvania Congressional District, Judge Robert McCreary and Sheriff John Hineman. District Atty. Richard P. Steward and Judges Frank Reed and Morgan Sohn were unable to attend.

The parade stretched about 11 blocks. Marching units were given lunches at five locations. Units included special guests, borough and school officials, veterans organizations and auxiliaries. Boy and Girl Scouts, high school bands, a professional band, drum and bugle corps, drill teams and about 100 Gold Star Mothers.

Some $650 was awarded in prizes, with each marching unit getting an award, Harry Hulton, general chairman, said. He termed the day's events "a success" and commended all who helped.

Ceremonies during the parade began at 11 a. m. at a signal from a siren. All units stopped while buglers sounded taps and bands played the "Star Spangled Banner."

A dance was held at the post home from 1 to 5 p. m. The Bill Coy Band of Ambridge provided music. Some 104 Beaver County Gold Star Mothers—Midland has 9—were honored at a dinner at 1 p. m. at the Steelworkers Hall.

The Rev. Ray A. McCreight, pastor of the Four - Mile United Presbyterian Church, was the main speaker. He told the group that "our sons have given their lives for our country and we should have enough love for it not to shirk our duty toward it."

He said that even though we do not agree among ourselves at times about how our country is being run, still "it is our country, and we should have love for it."

Judge McCreary, spoke briefly. Councilman Harvey Sponcer addressed the group on behalf of the borough and Burgess Eli G. Corak, who was unable to attend.

Truman Rodfong, Beaver County Veterans Affairs director, was emcee. The dinner was prepared and served by the Midland post's auxiliary with Mrs. Audrey Coble, president, in charge.

Midland Gold Star Mothers are Mrs. Edward Parsons, Mrs. Laura Doyle, Mrs. Mary Monaco, Mrs. Leroy Croyle, Mrs. Peter Germusa, Mrs. Dominic Presutti, Mrs. Jasper Porto, Mrs. William Gailey and Mrs. Jose Torres.

The dinner was the last event of the Veterans Day observance. A past commanders banquet was held Monday evening, memorial services were held Sunday evening and the 40 & 8 parade and concert was Saturday evening.

Suspects Held In Theft Case

Two Wellsville men are being held in Wellsville jail, awaiting formal charges and hearings for stealing clothes and other articles from the car of a Wisconsin man Tuesday night.

Police said Walter Sloan, 1033 Commerce St., and George Petti of Wellsville were arrested yesterday. Sloan was picked up yesterday morning and readily admitted the theft, officers said. Petti was arrested last night.

The clothes, including a suit, topcoat, underwear, and a suitcase, electric razor and other toilet articles were taken from the car owned by Herman J. Landsee of West Allis, Wis., while it was parked in the 1400 block of Main St. Tuesday evening.

Sloan removed the clothing from the car and then contacted Petti to haul it out of town, police said. Officers received a tip on the theft and found the stolen merchandise hidden along Route 39 outside Wellsville.

Petti probably will be charged with being an accessorie to the crime, police said.

Man Amputates Arm When It Is Caught In Device

ALMA, Ga. (AP) — "I cut a little bit at first just to see how bad it would hurt. All the feeling was gone, and it didn't hurt a bit. So I started whacking away."

Thus did Henry Ahl, 47, tell how he began amputating his left arm between the wrist and elbow when it became entangled in a corn-picking machine at his farm near Alma. The accident occurred last Thursday, and Ahl described his 30-minute ordeal from his hospital bed Wednesday.

Ahl rode a tractor part of the way to his farmhouse, a half-mile distant after his pen-knife surgery. A neighbor met him and carried him to the Bacon County Hospital where his condition was reported as good.

Expanding Population, Industry

Midwest Water Problems To Become More Serious

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP) — The farmer, his leathery face streaked with dust and perspiration, turned the faucet handle at the barn water trough. The sun was scorching and his hogs were hot and thirsty.

The faucet gave a dribble, a wet gurgle and then nothing.

The farmer hurried into the house to the kitchen sink. No water there, either.

Alarmed now, he charged outside to the pumphouse. The gasoline engine was chugging full force. He ran the back of his hand against his beaded forehead.

"It's dry," he mumbled to himself. "The well has gone dry."

In town, a housewife turned on her bathroom shower. A trickle of muddy water dripped from the outlet. She fiddled with the handle.

At the town's only factory, the co-owners went into a worried huddle with their superintendent.

Why had this happened? Water, like air, was something you took for granted in the Midwest.

But this was a drought year in the early 1950s. The farmer, the housewife and the factory owners had just received their first hand lesson: You don't always get water by turning on the faucet.

Generally ample rains in the Midwest in recent years have eased or removed many of the water shortage problems associated with drought. But expanding populations and soaring industrial use of water have created serious long-range problems for some localities.

In northeast Ohio, for example, where one-third of the state's population lives, wells are drying up. Experts say residents will have to pipe water from Lake Erie to meet future needs.

The Iowa Legislature in 1957 passed a law requiring that industry and farmers needing water for irrigation first must obtain permits from the State Water Board.

Even a city such as Milwaukee, which overlooks the deep, blue waters of Lake Michigan, has a problem. The city and its environs are outgrowing a water distribution system that once was adequate.

Fortunately for most of the Midwest, experts say, water sources are ample to meet any emergency. The area abounds in lakes, rivers and streams. The problem, and it entails considerable outlay of funds, is to deliver the supply to the right place when it is needed.

But one fact stands out when current Midwestern trends are projected into the future. If more and more wells are drilled into reservoirs of underground water to satisfy expanding populations and new industries, nature will not be able to keep up. When and where it falls behind, as is now happening in some sections, communities will have to turn to the region's abundant surface water in lakes and rivers for their supply.

That means pipelines or aqueducts—and higher water bills.

West Virginia Soldier Drowns In Ohio Lake

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — A. 3C. Carl Bowyer, 20, of Long Branch, W. Va., drowned Wednesday when he fell into Lake Cowan, near here, while duck hunting.

A companion, S.Sgt. Floyd Goodwin, said Bowyer was trying to retrieve a duck when he fell into the lake. Goodwin expressed belief Bowyer was stricken with cramps in the cold water.

The body was recovered three hours later.

33 High School Bands Due At Tri-State Event

CINCINNATI (AP)—More than 2,000 musicians in 33 high school bands will perform here Saturday in the University of Cincinnati's fifth annual Tri-State High School Band Day.

The bands will put on their show between halves of the Cincinnati-Marquette football game. At one point they will form a huge American shield and play music typical of important events in the nation's history.

Ohio Power's Job Advances

The Ohio Power Co. today announced one portion of a $500,000 project to improve service in East Liverpool was completed Tuesday afternoon.

The utility said a new 69,000-volt line was connected between substations at E. 2nd St. and in East End near Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. The new East End substation will be put into service Thursday and distribution lines serving customers in the area will be transferred to the new station as quickly as possible.

The new 69,000-volt loop is being built around the city to meet steadily mounting power demands. W. A. Black, district manager, said the increase power demands have been created by the fast-growing residential areas in the city and the suburbs of Calcutta and Glenmoor. Another factor is the rapid increase in the use of air conditioning and electric home heating, he said.

All new transmission lines were constructed on the River Rd. They were placed out of flood danger.

Substations at the state line on Harvey Ave. and in Calcutta will be revamped to handle the new power loop. The electricity feeds in here from the substation on 3rd St., Wellsville. It then goes east along the River Rd. to substations in East End, then turns north and west to Calcutta. From Calcutta, it goes to Glenmoor and then back to Wellsville to complete the loop.

Nellie Fox Named Most Valuable In American League

BOSTON (AP) — Tobacco-chewing Nellie Fox, the Chicago White Sox' gritty little second baseman, today was named the American League's most valuable player for 1959.

Fox edged teammate Luis Aparicio, the shortstop half of Chicago's brilliant double play combination, in balloting for a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Fox and Aparicio, who provided Chicago with vital up-the-middle defense in the White Sox' drive for their first pennant in 40 years, were the only two players listed on all ballots. They divided all the first place votes between them.

Fox polled 295 points in the voting, while Aparicio had 255. Early Wynn, Chicago's burly right hander, drew 123 points as the White Sox swept the first three places in the poll.

It was the first such award for Fox, a quiet, unassuming 31-year-old veteran whose huge cud of tobacco is almost as much a trademark as his consistent, determined play. It also marks the first time a White Sox player has been selected since the baseball writers took over the award in 1931.

Fox' selection gave Chicago a sweep of the MVP awards, only the fourth time a single city has had both American and National league most valuable players. The Cubs' Ernie Banks was named to the National League MVP award last week.

Other principal American League vote-getters were Cleveland's Rocky Colavito and Tito Francona, Al Kaline of Detroit,

NELLIE FOX
Most Valuable In AL.

Jim Landis of Chicago and Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers.

Fox contributed 191 hits and a .306 average to Chicago's pennant drive. But it was his play in the field, as much as anything else, that brought him the honor, one of baseball's most coveted annual awards.

The little (5-feet-10, 160 pounds) keystone man handled 827 chances with only 10 errors for a sparkling .988 fielding average, and the Fox-Aparicio defensive play around second is generally considered a major factor in the light-hitting White Sox' pennant-winning effort.

Toronto Eyes Undefeated Season Friday

'Seven Dwarfs' Will Appear Here

Snow White may not show up, but the "seven dwarfs" will be at Patterson Field Friday night when the Toronto Red Knights place their undefeated record against East Liverpool.

The "seven dwarfs" is the name which Coach Earl Biederman has given to his forward wall, which have been one of the big reasons for Toronto's string of eight straight victories.

The line only averages 157 and the largest boys on the front wall are end Max Sherwood and tackle Paul Hackett, each of whom weighs 170.

Six of the "seven dwarfs" go both defensively and offensively. Biederman only makes one change in the defensive line, with Tim Wilson (150) replacing Sherwood at end.

Jim Browning (150) will be at the other end post, Leroy Rosenberger (150) and Hackett will handle the tackle spots.

Lou Ellen, a 160-pounder, and Dick Norris, who goes 150, will be at guards and Carl Kestner, another 150-pounder, at center.

Toronto's defensive line has allowed only 38 points and has shut out four opponents.

Behind the "seven dwarfs" are two of the top backs in the Ohio Valley in Bobby Edwards, a 135-pound whiz, and hard - running George Fisher, at 195 pounds.

Edwards has an amazing 10.2 average per carry and has rolled up 903 yards in eight games. The senior halfback strikes on the long runs and has scored 12 touchdowns this season.

Some have been on runs of 67, 44, 36, 76, 65 and 51 yards.

Fisher is rated the "workhorse" of the undefeated Red Knights. The big fullback has hit paydirt 9 times this season and has gained 596 yards for a 5.1 average per carry.

The other halfback is Bob Montgomery, who cannot be taken lightly. He has carried 76 times for 350 yards.

Toronto's young sophomore quarterback, John Loughridge, will be a threat to the Potters with his passing.

Batting .500, Loughridge has completed 16 of 32 passes including 5 touchdown tosses.

Biederman will make one change in the backfield on defense, with Frank Spreandie (160) reacpling Montgomery at right halfback.

Toronto will be appearing in its last game of the season. So only East Liverpool stands in the way of a perfect season.

If Toronto can hurdle East Liverpool, it will mark the first undefeated team for the Red Knights since 1948.

Biederman, a youngster in the coaching ranks at 23, has met with success in his second year at Toronto. Last season his team compiled a 3-6 mark.

Victories this season have been over Carrollton, 20-8, Wellsville, 28-0, Oak Harbor, 26-0, Jefferson Union, 52-12, Wintersville, 21-12, Mingo Junction, 31-6, Follansbee, 26-0, and Follansbee St. Anthony, 34-0.

Toronto already has the Ohio Valley Class AA championship sewed up.

A year ago East Liverpool handed Toronto one of its defeats, 24-8.

East Liverpool, aftering having its six-game winning streak snapped by Salem last Friday night, will be hoping that Bob Mackall has recovered fully from a pulled back muscle.

Mackall has been working out lightly this week and Coach Lou Venditti said he should be able to use his star quarterback Friday night.

Mackall said he was feeling "good" and should be able to return after missing most of the Salem contest.

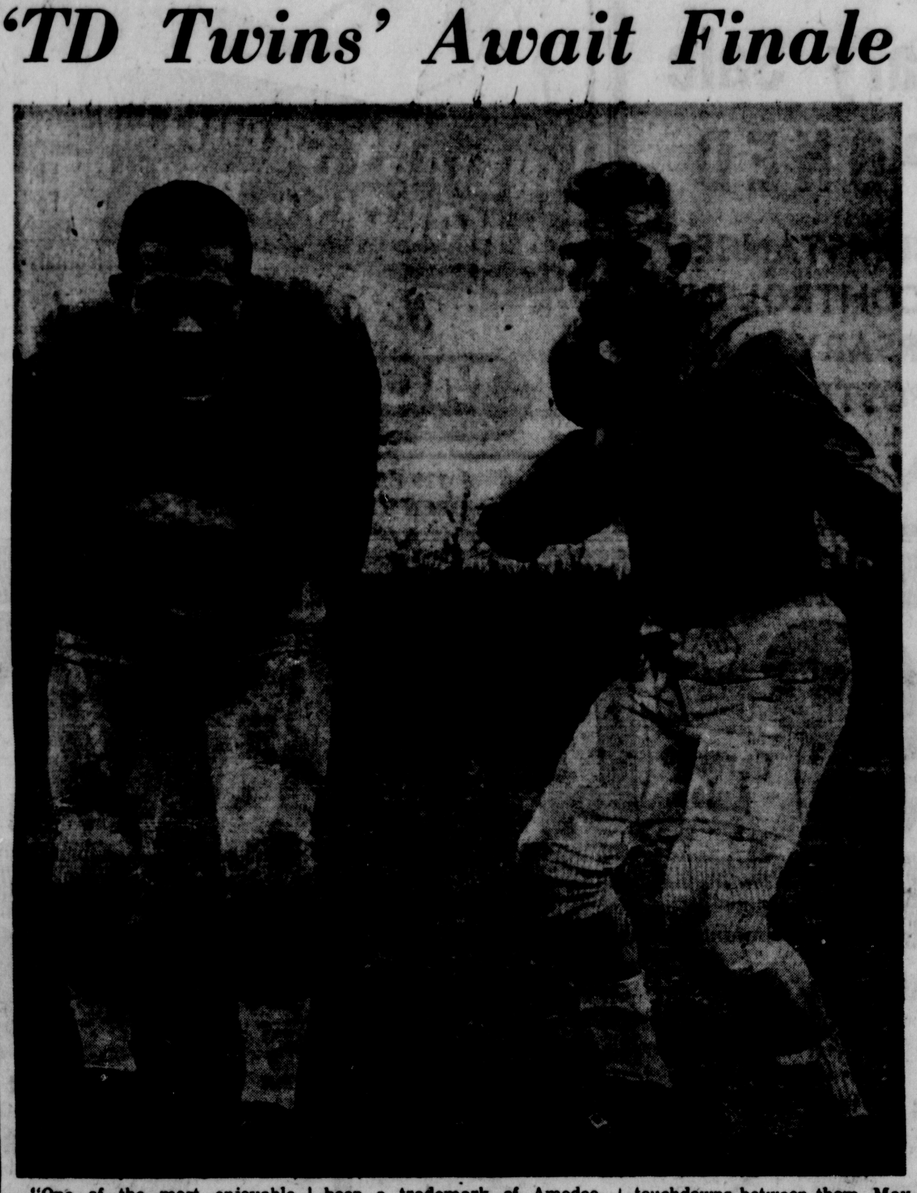
Venditti announced that Charles Barnhouse will start at center in place of Gary Montgomery.

Dads Will Meet Under Stadium Friday Night

All fathers of East Liverpool High School gridders are asked to meet under the stadium Friday night at 7:10. Dad's Night will be celebrated at the Potter-Toronto game. The band will form a large "Hi-Dad" and the fathers of the players will be introduced before the game, Ralph Musuraca, chairman said.

Lead Chester's Panthers

'TD Twins' Await Finale



"One of the most enjoyable squads I've worked with at Chester in many years."

That's Coach Dom Amedeo's opinion of his once-beaten Panther eleven which opposes strong Follansbee Friday night at Chester City Park in the finale of the 1959 season.

Should the Panthers hurdle Follansbee, the team will have compiled a splendid 9-1 record—surprising in the fact that lettermen were exceptionally scarce when the squad turned out for practice this fall.

While defensive prowess has been a trademark of Amedeo-coached teams, this year's club has had its share of scoring glory due to fullback Ken Sayre (left) and halfback Bill Mayhew who are pictured above.

The "touchdown twins" will don the Purple and Gold for the final time of their scholastic careers Friday night and will leave with the distinction of being Chester's best one-two touchdown wallop in recent years.

Sayre, a 175-pounder, and Mayhew, 165-pounds, enjoyed proverbial field days last week against Cameron when they scored seven touchdowns between them. Mayhew has scored 12 TD's and five conversions this season for 77 points. Sayre has 10 touchdowns and three conversions for 63 points.

Paving the way for their scoring dashes are a pair of king-size tackles in John Steele and Steve Chapko, both 190 - pound lettermen. Amedeo calls them "two of the best tackles in West Virginia high school football."

Amedeo has been coaching at Chester since 1948 and has been head mentor since 1955. He is a Kent State University graduate.

Bald Eagle Wins 2½ Lengths

American Horse Captures $100,000 International

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—It took an international incident to give Bald Eagle his American name and it took an international horse race to make him world famous.

Bald Eagle, an American-bred 4-year-old gained world-wide acclaim Wednesday when he beat the equine prides of eight other nations in the roughly ridden $100,000 Washington D.C. International.

But for the Suez Canal closing which created international tension in 1956, the son of Nasrullah might well have raced under the name of Nasser. Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, owner of the Cain Hoy Stable, originally called the rugged bay colt after Egypt's Premier.

Bald Eagle won the Eighth International by a comfortable 2½ lengths over France's Midnight Sun while other contestants behind him knocked each other for a loop.

The jockeys on horses from Venezuela and Australia jolted each other from their seats about halfway through the race.

Soviet jockey Nikolai Nasibov, up on Garnir, rode most of the way with a bloody nose and said, "This is not a race, it is more like a football game. They ride like they do not have brains." Garnir finished fifth.

America's ace jockey of 28 years' riding experience, Eddie Arcaro, considered himself lucky for having avoided the banging around.

"It was the roughest I've ever seen, and I've ridden in a few of them," said Arcaro who finished fourth on France's Mi Carina.

The other U.S. entry and the betting favorite, Mrs. Herbert Herff's Tudor Era, came in third.

Bald Eagle escaped the scrimmaging by breaking second and staying there until with about half a mile to go jockey Manuel Ycaza of Panama, saw Tudor Era tiring and took the lead.

Bald Eagle reeled off the 1¼ mile in 2 minutes, 28 seconds. The previous fastest International was England's Wilwyn, 2:30 4-5, in the 1952 inaugural.

As the second choice, Bald Eagle returned $9.20, $5.20 and $3.80 in the $2 betting windows.

Orange Given Time To Study Bowl Offer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Orange Bowl committee is giving Syracuse time to decide if it wants to play in the New Year's Day football game here.

When the invitation first was extended to top-ranked Syracuse, Chairman Van C. Kussrow of the Orange Bowl Selection Committee said an immediate decision was wanted or other teams would be considered.

However, other committee members Wednesday counseled against a quick decision. In addition, the committee learned it will have to wait until after the Southeastern Conference season ends before it can invite such teams as Georgia, Georgia Tech and Tennessee — all mentioned as possibilities by Kussrow.

Syracuse players have voiced enthusiasm for a Miami game but athletic officials at the school said other factors must be considered.

The other team in the Orange Bowl will come from the Big Eight Conference.

Cincinnati Star Still On Top In Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati's Ed Kovac, a free-wheeling halfback with a consistent scoring touch, remains major college football's top scorer of the 1959 season.

Statistics from the NCAA Service Bureau released today show Kovac with 13 touchdowns for 78 points and a seven point lead over Nolan Jones of Arizona State U. Jones had scored seven touchdowns but has added 20 conversions and three field goals for a total of 71 points. Abner Haynes, the attack-leader for unbeaten North Texas State, is next with 70 on 11 touchdowns and four conversions.

Kovac has two games remaining in which to protect his lead.

Chris Burford of Stanford grabbed six passes in his team's 55-13 loss to UCLA and leads all receivers in number of catches with 42. However, Dick Evans of VMI has taken over as the yardage leader with 513 yards on 27 receptions. Burford has gained 503 yards. Evans also has caught seven touchdown passes, one less than the leader — Paul Maguire of the Citadel.

In punt returns, All-America Billy Cannon of LSU remains the leader with 214 yards on 13 returns, compared to 210 on 12 returns by Jacque MacKinnon of Colgate. Kentucky's Calvin Bird is the kickoff return leader with 315 yards on 12 returns.

Bernie Allen Ranked Fifth In Passing

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa's Olen Treadway and Bob Jeter are hot on the scent of the Big Ten's statistical titles.

Treadway continues as the passing leader with 61 hits in 106 attempts for 641 yards and four touchdowns. This aerial burst also carries him to the total offense lead with a net 616 yards that includes a minus 25 rushing.

Jeter is the rushing leader with 394 yards in 60 trips for a 6.6 average.

Michigan State's versatile Dean Look threatens Treadway's lead in passing with 28-65 for 481 yards and six touchdowns, and in total offense with 501.

Northwestern's Mike Stock, top conference scorer with 29 points—three more than Iowa's Don Norton—is giving Jeter a run for rushing honors. Stock has barreled 321 yards in 73 carries.

Bob Ferguson of Ohio State is third in rushing with 266 yards and an 8.6 yards-per-carry that tops Big Ten regulars. OSU's Bob White, with 214 yards, is seventh in rushing. Buckeye quarterback Tom Matte is third in total offense with 422 yards.

Ohioans high in the statistics besides Stock, of Barberton, include Northwestern's John Talley, of Delaware, third in passing, and Purdue's Bernie Allen, of East Liverpool, fifth in the same department; Indiana's Ted Aucreman, of Lancaster, fourth in pass receptions with nine for 196 yards, and Northwestern's Ray Purdin, of Greenfield, tops in both punt returns and kickoff runbacks.

Teamwise, Iowa, with a 2-3 league record, is No. 1 on offense—gaining more than 354 yards a game, averaging 71 plays for 5 yards a crack. Defensively, Illinois is tops in yielding the fewest yards, 186 a game, while Purdue has given up the fewest first downs and allowed opponents only 8.8 points a game.

WHETHER Syracuse plays in the Orange Bowl or not pretty Miss Nancy Wakefield of Winter Haven, Fla., will be there as the 1960 Orange Bowl queen after she was selected for the honor Wednesday at Miami. (UPI Telephoto)

Brown Shows Confidence In Quarterback

CLEVELAND (AP)—The long search by the Cleveland Browns for a starting quarterback appears over. Coach Paul Browns says he has found his man—Milt Plum.

Brown showed his confidence in Plum when he said Wednesday night that he won't be looking for a quarterback in the annual draft in Philadelphia at the end of the month. Cleveland has been shaky at quarterback since Otto Graham retired in 1956.

What impresses Brown most about the 24-year-old Plum is his ability to avoid interceptions. Only four of his aerials have been picked off by enemy defenders this year.

"That's a vital factor to me," Brown said, adding:

"It gives me a chill when passes are intercepted.

"Milt is moving ahead in other ways, too. Now he does things that can come only with poise and experience.

"That was pointed up on one play against the (Philadelphia) Eagles. Our top two receivers were covered. So he looked right down the line and picked Billy Howton, the outlet man. It was a good job.

"Milt is a tenacious guy. He won't give up and he hates interceptions as much as I do."

Plum, a Penn State product in his third year with Cleveland, ranks fifth among the National Football League's passers with an average gain of 7.87 yards per try. He has completed 59.2 per cent of his passes, second only to the 62 per cent of the Los Angeles Rams' Billy Wade.

Charley Conerly of the New York Giants has had one less pass intercepted than Plum, but he has thrown 35 fewer aerials.

Johnson Stops Ray In Tenth

CHICAGO (AP) — Harold Johnson, one of the greatest fighting machines in the business, returned to Philadelphia today and his $60 a week job in a jazz combo.

"I don't get enough fights to live so I've got a five-piece combo," said the top-ranking light heavyweight who stopped Sonny Ray in the 10th round in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

"We get about three night club dates a week. It pays each of us from $50 to $60. I play the drums."

The nationally televised bout with Ray was his first fight in six months and only his 11th in four years. He won them all.

For a fellow who sees such little ring action, the 31-year-old Johnson was a superb specimen against Ray, deadly and sure-fisted with panther-like reflexes.

"I knocked him down in the fourth with a right but couldn't get at him to keep him there," he said afterward. "I think I could have got him any time like I did in the last round. But not having fought for so long I was skeptical."

"I didn't accomplish anything but a good work out. All I can do is sit around, play the drums and wait for a fight. I'd like to meet Archie Moore again for the title (Moore, losing on the cards, kayoed Johnson in the 14th five years ago) but all my contacts with Moore have no results."

Johnson, 175, now has a 62-8 record. Ray, who weighed in at 174, is 20-9-5.

Francona Voted Man Of The Year

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tito Francona, a slugger the Cleveland Indians had a hard time fitting into their lineup, today was named Man of the Year by the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

Francona hit .363 for the best batting average in the American League, but failed to win the league batting title because he didn't make enough appearances at the plate.

A pre-season swap, Francona for Lary Doby, brought Tito to Cleveland. Francona says first base is his best position, but adds, "It doesn't seem right for me to play first when we have the best first baseman in baseball, Vic Power, on our club."

Tito spent most of his time in center field last summer but finished at first base.

The vote, the second for man of the year, was 16 for Francona and 11 for pitcher Cal McLish. Francona and McLish tied on the first ballot.

Charming Barbara Is $75,000 Trot Winner

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Leave it to a lady—a lady horse, that is—to add confusion to a horse race.

The third leg of the $75,000 American Trotting Classic was run off Wednesday and a charming mare named Charming Barbara upended a field of six rival men horses.

Last year Charming Barbara did much the same thing in subduing her male rivals in two straight races. But her one victory in the three-leg series brought on complications.

It had been supposed that either of the winners of the first two legs would win the third leg. The favorite was Senator Frost, who came in first last week, or the French idol, Jamin, who took the first leg of the cup Oct. 24.

But as it turned out, driver Bill Haughton and Charming Barbara came in first in what might have been the playoff at Hollywood Park.

Trader Horn was second, Jamin was a well-beaten third and Senator Frost was far back at sixth in the seven-horse race.

Under the rules of the Western Harness Racing Assn., there would be a race-off between Jamin, Senator Frost and Charming Barbara. But Jamin has a previous date to parade at Roosevelt Raceway in New York tonight and fly back to Europe for an impending race there.

As matters stand, Senator Frost and Charming Barbara will have a race between themselves at a date yet to be selected, with a special purse at stake.

Charming Barbara was held off the pace Wednesday and came from almost last, winning after the two front-runners, Jamin and Senator Frost, wore themselves down. Steamin' Demon, like the Senator an Ohio-owned horse, was never in contention and finished last.

Time for the one-mile feature was 1:58, fastest race time this year. Previous fastest was 1:58-4-5 by Senator Frost at Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.

It was a track record for Hollywood Park.

Charming Barbara returned $35.40, $12.40 and $5.60.

Northwestern To Catch Glimpse Of 'New Look'

By The Associated Press

Now it's Northwestern's turn to catch a glimpse of the new Look. That would be Dean Look, the man Michigan State warned the Wildcats to beware of this Saturday.

He's the same man who last year was one of the Big Ten's finest halfbacks and this year has turned out to be its best all-around quarterback.

Any warness Northwestern may have as it battles Michigan State to keep at least a tie for the Big Ten lead with Wisconsin is founded on the sad experiences of four previous opponents, and MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty's outright praise for Look.

The Lansing, Mich. senior has passed for seven touchdowns and scored one in keeping the Spartans at 4-3 for the season. But he had to acquaint himself with the intricacies of a new position and shake off an early-season injury bug.

"He's just what the doctor ordered for the squad," Daugherty said after Look paced Michigan State to a 19-0 victory over Notre Dame. "He has good poise, excellent judgement and has been an inspiration."

Cincinnati U. Tackle Suffers Leg Fracture

CINCINNATI (AP) — Coach George Blackburn of the University of Cincinnati football team is about to run out of starting right tackles.

An examination disclosed Wednesday that Gus Schmidt, sophomore from Lorain, suffered a cracked bone in his left leg in Saturday's game against Tulsa. The week before, Max Messner, of Ashland, the regular starter, suffered a broken jaw in the game with Xavier.

Schmidt had returned to the starting lineup Saturday after being out five weeks with a previous injury.

Blackburn indicated that sophomore Jim Thrash of Lancaster would be the starter in Saturday's game with Marquette.

Jerry Fields May Be Quarterback For OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Fields, a junior, likely will be the starting quarterback here Saturday as the Buckeyes meet Iowa.

Coach Woody Hayes said so Wednesday as his team drilled in a cold rain, getting ready for the weekend tussle.

Tom Matte, who recently supplanted Fields as first - string quarterback, said his shoulder is still paining him. It was injured in last Saturday's 0-0 tie with Indiana.

Boston, Philly Cop NBA Tilts

By The Associated Press

The fire power of the Boston Celtics is such in pro basketball that they can "skip" a quarter and still roll up a score approaching record proportions.

The Celtics scored only 19 points in the second period of Wednesday night's National Basketball Assn. game with Cincinnati. But they blasted in 132 in the other three and wound up with a season high in a 151-118 victory over the Royals.

With 41 points in the first period, 48 in the third and 43 in the fourth, the Celts had an easy time protecting their one-game Eastern division lead over Philadelphia, which downed Detroit 119-105 in the league's other game.

Wilt Chamberlain again was the Philadelphia leader, scoring 41 points.

Boston, with Cincinnati's Jack Twyman in the midst of a 49-point night, pulled well away as Bill Sharman scored 15 points and Bob Cousy and Tom Heinsohn added 19 apiece in the third period. Sharman wound up with 32 points, Heinsohn with 22 and Cousy with 16.

Walt Dukes, a 7-footer, kept Detroit close to Philadelphia until he had to be rested because of excessive fouls midway in the third period. Then Chamberlain & Co. ran away, nailing the game with 12 straight points for an 80-63 lead.

Dukes had 22 points, while Chamberlain scored 41.

FIGHT RESULTS

Chicago — Harold Johnson, 175, Philadelphia, stopped Sonny Ray, 174, Chicago, 10.

Tokyo — Leo Espinosa, 117¾, Philippines, outpointed Hiroshi Oda, 117¾, Japan, 12. (Espinosa retained Orient bantamweight title).

Repair Ship Off For Location Of Damaged Cable

SYDNEY, N.S. (AP) — A repair ship heads today for a spot 200 miles off Newfoundland where a transatlantic cable was damaged Monday, knocking out 36 telephone circuits from France and Germany.

Five cable breaks occurred in the same area last February, prompting an on-board investigation of a Soviet trawler found in the vicinity. It was believed, although never proved, that the trawler's deep-riding plows might have cut the cable accidentally.

Two U.S. Navy patrol planes began scouting the area Wednesday for any ships that might have caused the latest break. Poor visibility forced them back to their base at Argentia, Nfld.

A spokesman for the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said until repair crews examined the cable, there was no way of telling whether it was cut by a ship or damaged by some natural cause.

Miami U. President Warns On Teacher-Building Lack

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—America won't have enough college buildings or college teachers to meet the demands of 1970 with present practices, Miami University president John D. Millett said today.

Dr. Millett made the statement in a keynote speech opening Miami's two-day conference on large-group teaching.

Carefully guided large-group teaching can be one of the remedies, but even that must not be "just an expedient to meet the coming tidal wave," he asserted.

Enrollment forecasts call for at least doubling the teaching force and greatly expanding physical facilities, and neither job is moving fast enough to preserve traditional teacher-student ratios for standards of facilities 10 years from now, Dr. Millett declared.

Dealing primarily with the prospective teacher shortage, Dr. Millett said "the three possible responses" include cutting down on student expansion, modifying "our conception of a desirable staff member" and altering instructional practices for "better utilization of college teaching resources."

He suggested large-group instruction, improved teaching equipment and independent study of possible ways to help the individual teacher reach more students effectively.

Yet, he warned, these would not prove cheaper.

Better utilization of teachers must mean providing the teachers with more stenographic help and more help in preparing and grading examinations, plus more help in the library, laboratory and in preparation of visual aids, he said.

Thief Leaves Window Open And Causes Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus man probably wishes the person who forced open a window and burglarized his home Wednesday night had at least closed the window on leaving.

Because of the open window, fire officials said, the furnace thermostat caused the furnace to overheat, igniting the floor above it. The flames spread to a wall.

The burglar took $90, police said.

Damage by the fire: $1,500 to the house and $10 to a rug.

Busy On Holiday

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office here worked through the holiday Wednesday recording claims filed by jobless steelworkers. All other state offices were closed because of Veteran's Day. Approximately 2,300 of the 10,000 steelworkers eligible for benefits have filed claims.

Professor Admits Getting Help On 'Name That Tune'

NEW YORK (AP)—A faculty member of a municipal college here has disclosed that he won $4,000 in 1957 with the help of special "warm-up" sessions before appearing on the CBS television program "Name That Tune."

"Maybe some might say I was lacking in civic conscience," said Robert Haton Wednesday. "I was manipulated and I'm not proud of it."

Hayton, 37, is a professor of political science at Hunter College, a girl's school in Manhattan.

The story of his involvement in the scandal-tainted world of quiz shows was an echo of what happened to Charles Van Doren.

Van Doren admitted to a congressional subcommittee last week that he accepted help from the producers to win $129,000 on NBC's show "Twenty-One."

Hayton emphasized that he had never made a secret of the fact that he had received help before going on before the TV cameras.

Banquet Of Educators Attracts 180 To Church

LISBON — One hundred and eighty members of the Columbiana County Education Association attended the fall banquet Tuesday evening at the Winona Methodist Church.

Sen. Oliver Ocasek of Northfield, principal of Tallmadge High School, was guest speaker. He spoke as a school man, referring to the duties of the teacher in a classroom and in the community.

County Supt. James L. McBride also spoke and introduced the speaker. A group of girl students at Fairfield - Waterford School sang several numbers, directed by Mrs. Mary Meyers. Ralph Meyers, principal of the Fairfield - Waterford School and president of the associaton, was toastmaster.

NO PLACE LIKE (YOUR OWN) HOME

No. 1 In past years, I was one of the show places in this district. My former owners are gone, I made them want to say we own this home. There is still plenty of Living left in me, if someone would only spend a few dollars in rejuvenating me. I'm a large brick home with five bedrooms, two baths, large reception hall, living room, dining room and kitchen that you can really live-in. Large basement, new hot water furnace, two car garage, ½ acre of nice laying ground. All I need is someone to spend a few hundred dollars in rejuvenating me, then you will be proud to say we own this home. I'm priced to sell. Call FU 5-4338 for further information.

No. 2 I'm a four room home with bath, good well water, I set on approximately two acres of nice sloping land. I want a new owner. I'm yours for only $4,750.00

No. 3 Here is really a bargain. Three room house, city water, no bath, no cellar, no garage, but I do have two (2) 40x106 ft. lots. I'm now vacant. I'm priced at only $1,000.00. YES, thats the total price. $1,000.00

No. 4 Income Property — Duplex 4 rooms and bath, gas furnace, 3 rooms and bath, garage. Income is $100 per month gross. Owner lives out of city. He says sell for $6,000.

The Common Ailment

'Blues' Nag 20th Century

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk scrawls of a Pavement Plato: America's most common ailment today isn't the common cold. It's "the blues"—the 20th century blues.

There are certain periods of history more given to melancholy than others, and this is one of them.

How often do you hear people complain, "I've got the blues," or "I'm down in the dumps"? The only ones who don't are hermits. Hermits often are the happiest people in civilization because they are out of it. They escape its spiritual malaise.

Why should this generation be particularly cursed with that periodical darkness of the spirit, that aching mental void, that heart-tearing emptiness of the soul we know colloquially as "the blues?"

Is it merely the reflective shadow of the threat of atomic annihilation that hangs over us all?

This could be the answer except for one fact—man is usually least melancholy when his days are most perilous. Ironically, he is less given to sadness when he is in danger than when he is at his ease.

Man has never been more comfortable, more free of privation, than is the present generation of Americans. We aren't worn out with work. We're worn out from the pursuit of pleasure and trying too hard to enjoy ourselves.

Chasing joy is in many ways our leading industry. As a child, when it has played too hard, suddenly breaks out in tears, so are grownups overcome by the melancholy that comes from seeking too ardently the false rainbow of cheap delights and self-indulgence.

Wise old Samuel Johnson gave one prescription nearly 200 years ago: "Employment, sir, and hardships, prevent melancholy."

Of course, melancholy isn't altogether an unhealthy thing. An old English proverb says, "He is a fool that is not melancholy once a day." Victor Hugo observed: "Melancholy is the pleasure of being sad."

Melancholy also separates the men from the women.

"If there is hell upon earth it is to be found in a melancholy man's heart," wrote Robert Burton.

You will note he said nothing about a woman's heart. A woman is too intelligent to be long overborne by melancholy. She is too much of a fighter. She sheds a few tears, takes a nap, trips to the nearest store, buys herself a new hat or girdle, and comes home feeling fine again.

Women have a wonderful ability to lift their own spirits in small ways, and to change themselves from Cassandras to Cinderellas in three hours.

Men don't. They lack this internal lever of the spirit to pry their soul from black despair. They mope longer because, unlike women, they don't have the common sense to do something about it immediately. They sit in a pool of melancholy and refuse to move.

Avoirdupois Wager Works Miracle

"Can you suggest some sort of diet strategy to prevent further weight gains when one stops smoking? My friends warn that I will have a real battle of the bulge. Fact is, I could stand to lose 15 pounds right now.

Ida Jean Kain

"If any of your dieters have come up with a challenging plan to help one out of this dilemma, let me know. Diet seems to be tougher for a man."

Here's a challenge with teeth in it! A friend in the nutrition field, in the interest of helping millions of floundering Americans to lose excess poundage, has given your dietitian permission to publicize a wager that worked a miracle.

THE PLAN OF strategy was first to reduce in order to get appetite and weight under control — and then to stop smoking. The doctor had advised her to reduce 15 pounds. Since her son-in-law needed to lose the same amount, they made a wager: To wit:

"The bet is started at the discretion of the bettors' better judgment. The essence of the wager is this: If a bettor fails to make his weight, he agrees to pay, on weigh-in day, three months hence, $15.00 per pound or fraction thereof for each pound he or she is short of the prescribed goal. This wager bonafide in the State of Washington, is void only by fire, flood, acts of God and pregnancy."

Now the good news. The wager so intrigued the dieters that they both lost the prescribed number of pounds in the stipulated time. Then our nutritionist, with her weight and appetite well under control, stopped smoking.

There are two facets to the problem of weght gain when smoking is stopped. Food tastes better, so one tends to eat more. But, of greater signficance, smoking gives oral satisfaction.

Food in the form of snacks also provides oral gratification. Here one is dealing with habit. The way to break a habit is through substitution, but the trick is to make sure the substitution doesn't turn into a fattening habit.

There are on the market some Dietetic low calorie candies — lemon, mint and cherry drops — which furnish 3 calories each. You can get them from any store that stocks special Dietetic foods.

—:—

AT HOME ONE can have a variety of non-fattening snacks — tart apple slices, carrot slivers, or crunchy low calorie wafers. In the late afternoon it is advisable to have a definite energy pick-up, such as a hard cooked egg, a wedge of cheese, plus a cup of hot tea or coffee.

It is reassuring to know that the sharpened appetite, when controlled, levels off in about three weeks.
